model name

The Undisputed must be the area 51 of snowboarding. But, like people that have seen aliens, those that know, know and claim this board to be the most amazing freeride board out there. This is not just because of its magic carpet powder floating ability which less back leg burn than with other boards. It gets better with the TBT drawn back which makes blasting powder turns easier as you initiate turns where your bindings are, not where the big wide powder nose is. What makes it stand out even more is that when the powder isn't there or when you are negotiating icy slopes or traverses trying to get to it first, the Undisputed has more edge hold and carving stability then any other of those 'specialized' powder boards out there.
